Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☐ Responsive to communication(s) filed on ____.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: The specification does not disclose how the oil held within the crankcase to flow between opposite sides of the bearing support member. Applicant is required to submit an amendment, which clarifies the disclosure so that the examiner may make a proper comparison of the invention with the prior art. Applicant should be careful not to introduce any new matter into the disclosure (i.e., matter which is not supported by the disclosure as originally filed). Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as based on a disclosure which is not good enough for any person skilled in the art to understand how the oil held within the crankcase to flow between opposite sides of the bearing support member. The specification is inadequate.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ryu et al (US 6,250,273).

As best understood, Ryu et al discloses a general purpose engine comprising: a crankcase 3 comprising a case main body as a principal part thereof; a cylinder block with which the case main body is integrally formed; a crankshaft 2 having a plurality of crank webs 2C; bearings; a bearing support member 131 mounted on the case main body, the crankshaft being rotatably supported via the bearings in the bearing support member 131 and the case main body; a valve operating mechanism; and a drive transmission wheel 20 housed within the crankcase 3 so as to transmit rotational power to the valve operating mechanism, the drive transmission wheel 20 being fixedly provided on the crankshaft 2 so as to be outside the crank web that, among the crank webs, is at one end in the axial direction; wherein the crankcase 3 comprises the case main body and a cover 14 secured to the case main body; and wherein the bearing support member 131, which is disposed between the drive transmission wheel 20 and the crank web that is at one end in the axial direction, is formed into a shape that allows oil splash by blades 41 within the crankcase 3 to flow between opposite sides of the bearing support member.
